Subject: Microsoft - a consumer viewpoint

This is just another typical pissing away of the public's money. Microsoft has done nothing wrong. It only happens that the competition is not willing to dig into their pockets to play and the DOJ and the Congress saw it as an opportunity to look like they give a shit about the public. Fact: If I owned the concession on air, to get it you would have to pay. It is called capitalism. Press on with your inane exercise. It is why you guys work for the government. You would not last a second in the real world.
